

The Service Magazine

Published Monthly Under the Direction of the Eightieth Division Veterans Association, 915 Bessemer Building, Pittsburgh, Pa.

DWIGHT H. FEE, Editor
WALTER R. SUPPES, Associate Editor
GUY T. VISKNISKKI, Associate Editor
HARRY R. CURRY, Advertising Manager
REUEL W. ELTON, General Manager
JACK V. BERGER, Artist and Cartoonist

Entered as second-class matter October 3, 1919, at the post office at Pittsburgh, Penna., under the Act of March 3, 1879

Vol. I—No. 10

JULY, 1920

$2.00 a Year—20c a Copy

FOREWORD

SERVICE has been criticized for its lack of editorial policy! To which SERVICE rises to reply that SERVICE is the policy of SERVICE, to the end that liberty and justice shall not perish from our national life; that we may be ever grateful to the All-Wise Providence that watches over all; that we may continue to serve our country better, and mankind in general; that we may carry forward into the hopeful future the sacred memory of those who unselfishly gave their lives in the glorious past, and to serve, as civilians, God and Country, Mankind and the Virtues of Loyalty and Honor as loyally now—as then.

THAT ALONE IS THE POLICY OF
SERVICE MAGAZINE

TABLE OF CONTENTS

Frontispiece—The Picnic Bee	By Jack V. Berger—Page 4
Reunions, Picnics and Histories	—Page 5
Believe It or Not	By Capt. GERAL EGAN—Page 6
Worth Reading Twice	—Page 8
The Tales They Tell	—Page 9
The Canine War Veterans' Association	By Arthur Omar—Page 10
Fourth Impressions	By Jack V. Berger—Page 12
Diggin' In on the Home Sector	By Walter S. Reuben—Page 13
Silent Men of Arms	By Lt. Col. T. L. Rhoads—Page 14
Atlantic City, Leave Area	By Frederick Hickman—Page 15
An Argument for Peace	U. S. Signal Corps Photos—Pages 16-17
It's Not Over Yet	By Col. Joseph H. Thompson—Page 18
The Call of the Boy Scouts	—Page 21
Tony's Fourth (verse)	By H. R. Curry—Page 21
A Sunday Night on the P., L. & M.	By Russell L. Stultz—Page 22
A Page to Wit	—Page 24
Alumni Notes	—Page 25
Taps	—Page 25
Red Chevron Echoes	—Page 27